Council notes

Airport gets provincial funding

CLARE GAUVREAU
Review Staff

Elk Point Town Manager Myron Goyan had some good news for Elk Point Town Council last Monday night with word the Alberta Government will pick up the entire cost of the resurfacing of the airport runway.

"What's nice about it is they went for the whole works," Goyan said, indicating Elk Point and the County of St. Paul, which jointly operated the airport, won't be on the hook for any of the project expenses as Alberta Transportation is providing a grant of $1,188,450.

The project has been on the burner for several years. When Goyan first approached the provincial government for funding in 2009, it agreed to $711,640 for the project but when tenders came back at well over $1 million, the project was stalled while negotiations for additional funds continued.

The contract for the work has been awarded to Knelsen Sand & Gravel Ltd. and will be completed this year.

Last month, Alberta Transportation had offered up the sale of the airport to the Town of Elk Point and County for $1. With no word at that time on the approved funding for the resurfacing of the runway, the municipalities requested more time to consider the offer.

Mayor Parrish Tung said the airport commission needs to discuss taking over the ownership of the airport and bring a recommendation forward to council.

Manager contract

Following an in camera discussion, council voted in favour of a two-year employment contract for its town manager.

Goyan told the Review this is the first time he has worked under a contract and it is retroactive to Jan. 1, 2013.

2012 year end

Barb McCarthy of Joly, McCarthy & Dion presented council with its consolidated financial statements for the year ending Dec. 31, 2012.

Toddler rescued from well by RCMP member

ANDREW MENDLER
Bonnyville Nouvelle

A two-year-old girl is in hospital after falling into a well in a field just outside of Bonnyville on Friday afternoon.

The specific condition of the child was not known at press time but Bonnyville RCMP said Monday they have been told she is alive and her condition is improving.

"The fact that this little girl is still fighting is a testament to the men and women of Bonnyville's emergency services community including EMS, Fire Services, RCMP, and our dedicated hospital professionals," said Bonnyville RCMP Staff Sgt. Luis Gandolfi.

A relative notified the police, EMS and fire departments just before noon on Friday that the girl had fallen into a 10-foot well in a field adjacent to Hwy 41, south of Hwy 28.

The child struggled to stay afloat in the freezing water for several minutes, eventually falling below the waters surface, according to an RCMP press release.

Responding officer Const. Mathieu Nadeau was secured and lowered headfirst into the well in an attempt to save the girl. Unable to reach her with his arms, the officer was handed a fireman's pike, which he used to grab on to the child's clothing. After several minutes he was able to hook onto the child and bring her to the surface.

EMS personnel immediately began performing CPR on the child, who was unresponsive. She was rushed to the Bonnyville Health Centre where medical staff worked on her for several hours. Eventually she was flown to Edmonton's Stollery Children's Hospital via STARS Air Ambulance, where she remains.

"I am very proud of my members, and I'm certain that this sentiment is shared by all supervisors and managers from all emergency services. I am particularly proud of Const. Mathieu Nadeau who was selflessly lowered face first down this very narrow hole in a valiant attempt to rescue the child," said Gandolfi.

Victim Services has been brought in to assist the family members and employees where needed.

The RCMP have capped the well and made sure it poses no further threat to anyone in the area. They are currently investigating the circumstances of the well and how it came to be left uncapped.

Break and enter warning issued

SERGEANT DAVE CASEY
Elk Point Detachment

The Elk Point RCMP have received a number of Break and Enter complaints over the past two weeks.

Suspects have targeted rural properties, especially those with shops on them. It appears the suspects park on the road out of sight and walk onto the property. They are looking for unlocked shops, unlocked vehicles, and vehicles that have keys left in them. Suspects then go through these areas and take what they can carry or if there are keys left in vehicles, including quads, they are taking them.

The Elk Point RCMP have recovered a stolen truck and a stolen quad. In the early afternoon of April 17th, Elk Point RCMP received a call that there was a quad traveling southbound on Hwy 897 south of the junction of Hwy 646, the caller knew the quad belonged to a friend and that it had been stolen early that day. The caller had stopped on the road and spoke to two young Native males that were on the quad, they quickly got off the quad and were picked up by a truck that was traveling with them. The caller described the truck as a late 1990s Chevy 1/2 ton extended cab, two door, possibly with the crash doors, it was black over gray in colour.

The RCMP are asking rural residents to report any suspicious activity, to lock their shops and vehicles and not to leave keys or any valuables in their vehicles.

Anyone with information about this or any crime is asked to contact the Elk Point RCMP or Crime Stoppers. Crime Stoppers does not subscribe to caller ID or call display. All calls and web tips are anonymous and you can receive a reward. If you have any information about any crime, call 1-800-222-8477 (TIPS) or submit your tip safely and securely online through www.crimestoppers.ab.ca

The total operating revenue in 2012 was $3.8 million, including net municipal taxes of $1.3 million, sales and user fees amounting to $1.9 million, government grants of $323,000, licenses and permits brought in $100,000, bylaw and police fines yielded $10,000. On the expense side totaling $2.9 million, costs included $293,000 for administration, $269,000 for protective services, $716,000 for transportation, water and wastewater was $501,000, planning and development was $504,000 and recreation and culture amounted to $292,000.

The Town achieved a surplus of $1.5 million on its 2012 operations, which also includes $4,000 from the sale of assets and government transfers for capital projects in the amount of $635,000.

"Out of that $1.5 million, you spent $2.6 million on capital, so it all went away," McCarthy said. "Your net financial assets decreased by $509,000 (from 2011), but you still have $521,733 in your net financial assets and you're still solvent."

McCarthy further explained to council, "You ended up with cash and cash equivalents at the end of the year of negative $242,072, but you're planning to refund that all as you sell off your lots in the industrial subdivision, so we should see that back in the positive cash flow at the end of this year."

Salaries and benefits paid to the mayor, councilors and manager during 2012 were as follows: Mayor Parrish Tung - $22,223, Coun. Eugene Buck - $8,775, Coun. Bernice Capjack - $15,391, Coun. Ron Fraess - $21,865 and Coun. Dwayne Yaremkevich - $16,074, and Town manager Myron Goyan - $111,501.

Ten years for Riverland Trail Society

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Riverland Recreational Trail Society opened the 2013 annual meeting with Travel Alberta's new promotional video of the Iron Horse Trail, which starred a number of the members present, and agreed that it truly showcases the trail and the communities along its branches.

With outgoing president Maurice Dargis unable to attend last Monday's event at Boscombe, treasurer Marvin Bjornstad gave a rundown of the year's activities, noting that there has been "quite a bit of activity going on" as the 10th anniversary of the trail's official opening approaches.

The Iron Horse Trail Grooming Foundation met with Riverland and North East MuniCorr "and decided we needed money for maintenance," Bjornstad said. After talking to all 10 member municipalities, "eight bought in, and one agreed to fund grooming the trail." A casino in March yielded around $19,000 to assist with maintenance expenses.

Two water lines have been installed along the trail and kept Marianne Price "busy all summer with the St. Paul to Elk Point line," Bjornstad said, and she and the municipal councils are still working with the water commissions to make sure the trail is returned to its original condition. RRTS director Hector Dalpe has been checking on the Smoky Lake line "and trying to get the society's point across," he added.

A new addition to the trail is the establishment of 4,000 geocache sites, and a set of Iron Horse Trail Geocache coins is now available. North East MuniCorr paid for the GPS survey of the entire trail so that it fits in with the area's municipal GPS plans.

Bjornstad said a number of counties and trail groups have visited the trail. "They want to see how it works." Travel Alberta also toured the trail, looking for sites and attractions in the area to promote. "A lot of energy went into" the video shown earlier, he noted. "We'll get good PR from that."

A major setback occurred in July, when a fire caused substantial damage to the Beaver River Trestle, he noted. "We are waiting to get some idea of what it will cost to fix, because we do need to get Cold Lake connected."

With the society's lease agreement with MuniCorr up for review, "we had a long talk with them, and decided to keep it as is."

The coming year, Bjornstad said, will see a new website developed, staging areas and the right of way updated, a start made on rebuilding the trestle, along with some new picnic tables and signage upgrades.

In the election that followed, Bjornstad was declared the new president by acclamation, while Dave Dalby became the new vice president. The offices of treasurer and secretary remain vacant until the next directors' meeting. This year's directors, along with Bjornstad and Dalby, include Marjorie and Roy Scott, Danny Smyl, George and Pat Deputat, Hector Dalpe, Robert Pruneau, Shane Kissel and Bert Davidson. Past presidents Sheila Thompson, Jerry Bidulock and Maurice Dargis are automatically part of the directors' list.

Price and Alphonse Corbiere then took the podium to bring greetings from MuniCorr and to recognize the contributions of some of the municipal and provincial representatives and other individuals who played large roles in the development of the trail. Jerry Bidulock was applauded for his countless hours of effort on the trail's behalf, and three outgoing directors, who had served a minimum of three years, Dave Franchuk, Town of Smoky Lake, Ed Rondeau, MD of Bonnyville, and Deborah Pelechovsky, Cold Lake, were also recognized for their efforts.

MuniCorr pioneers John Trefanenko, Johnny Doonanco, Ray Danyluk, Ed English and Robert Bouchard were recognized for their long-standing efforts by North East MuniCorr.

- We often hear people say they aren't as tall as they used to be. We do lose a little height as we age. After we reach 40, we lose about 0.4 inches of height every 10 years. This loss accelerates after the age of 70. Osteoporosis contributes to this so a healthy diet and regular weight-bearing exercising can slow the "shortening".
- Our bodies are made up of trillions of individual cells working together to make your body work well. When you exercise, focus on the individual cell. Exercise helps train your cells to perform better so they will produce energy more efficiently and helps your lung cells to use oxygen better.
- There's a new addiction affecting many people during the past few years although you won't find it in any medical textbook. It's called Facebook Addiction Disorder (FAD). Evidently, 350 million people have this disorder. Are you one of them? If you find Facebook is eating up more and more of your time each day, perhaps it's time to control the addiction.
- Missing a dose of a regularly-taken medication is an error. If this happens often, devise a medication memory device to help you remember to take a dose. This can take the form of a 24 hour timer, a special one-day medication box or have a talk with our pharmacists for other ways to help.

Meltdown!

Well, finally! At long last, the creek past the Elk Point Historical Mural is running full bore, the river ice is breaking up, and the massive mounds of snow are disappearing at an astonishing pace.

Water is running across the rural roads, which is no surprise, since last Thursday, the plowed-up snow along some of those roads was still too high to see over from a pickup truck.

We've been waiting a long time for this - waiting to see our lawns, our decks, our fields... but with the disappearance of its wintry coverlet, the world doesn't look as exciting as we were anticipating.

Where on earth does all this debris come from every year? There's scarcely a fence without a plastic bag stuck in or on it, a sidewalk or a patch of grass without some form of trash that has emerged from the drifts. Spring cleaning time, everyone!

Way Back When...

Petition, pressure hoses, practice closure

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF APRIL 30 IN...

1988

Town council accepted a 170-signature petition presented at the town's annual meeting, and agreed to go back to the master plan for ball diamond layout at the Elk Point Recreation Park. District Deputies Alice Hovelkamp and Ernie Sweeny installed Honoured Royal Lady Jeannine Boratyniec and Exalted Ruler Dave Yake and their slates of officers at the joint OORP and Elks installation ceremonies.

1993

Crews with pressure hoses, vacuum trucks and shovels were hard at work cleaning up a significant oil spill south of Northern Valley Store. The Northern Alberta Development Council met in Elk Point, with six of 20 briefs presented by Elk Point, two of those from the town regarding airport runway extension and economic development.

1998

Town council passed the final two readings of a bylaw to reduce its membership to five from seven by a narrow 3-2 margin, with Mayor Ed Buck and Couns. Bill Schuhmacher and Walter Lesyk in favour of the change, Couns. Mae Hendrickson and Ron Smith against the decrease. Several new and exciting numbers were part of the Metelytsia Ukrainian Dance Club's annual spring concert.

2003

Aspen Regional Health Authority and Dr. Drew Ramful assured Elk Point and district residents that it would be "business as usual" at Elk Point Healthcare Centre despite the closure of Dr. Sandy Koe's practice on May 30. A performance of 'Cinderella' was the highlight of Metelytsia Ukrainian Dance Club's 24th annual spring concert.

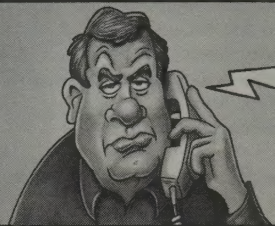

2008

Former senior dancer Laryssa Cochrane returned with her vibrant energy and unwavering love of Ukrainian dance to guest at the annual spring concert. Police were seeking help in resolving an attempted abduction after a man approached a nine-year-old playing in her own backyard and attempted to lure her into his vehicle.

Is winter over?

It seems like we have had a long winter and now we are a little cautious to hope that winter is really over. However, it is the last day of April and we know technically that winter is over. If winter only involved snow and if the weather is getting warmer then we can safely say winter is over.

Oh well, it is all in the attitude - right!! Wait a minute! Canadians are unique - so we can have unique weather. Speaking of Canadians did you know that Canadians have made some wonderful, weird and sometimes dubious contributions to Humankind? We deal with winter. Rather than wither in the winter cold, Canadians pulled the toques down over their ears and invented snowmobiles, the electric car heater and the snow blower. Thank Canada for toboggans.

Were it not for Canadians, the world would be devoid of paint rollers and five-pin bowling. There would be no electric organ, green ink or multiplex movie theatres. And, we can't forget green garbage bags, zippers and ginger ale.

There are other things to remember about us unique Canadians. The recipe for Nanaimo bars comes from the British Columbian town of the same name. Without Canada, time as we know it would end. Sir Sanford Fleming, a Scottish immigrant to the New World, devised the world's 24-zone standard time system. Speaking of immigrants, did you know that Canada is the most ethnically diverse country in the world? Canada has the highest population of Icelanders outside Iceland and the most Italians outside Italy.

Canadians have such an imagination they try to take credit for basketball and the telephone, says Will Ferguson. "They'll claim the telephone as a Canadian invention. Alexander Graham Bell was born in Scotland, educated in Scotland and most of his research took place in Boston ... but that doesn't matter because he lived in Canada", Ferguson says. Yet

deanna
from the FCSS desk

Canada claims basketball because James Naismith was born in Canada, although he came up with the sport while living in the U.S. But there's no denying that Toronto's Joe Shuster was co-creator of that greatest of American heroes - Superman. And who else but the first nation of hockey could have invented Plexiglas, the goalie mask or the referee whistle? Where are all these facts coming from? Will Ferguson, award-winning author of Canadian History for Dummies and "Why I Hate Canadians", gave us all this information.

Wait a minute! Maybe I should have read more from the book and learned why he hated Canadians. Well, let us put it this way. It is all in the attitude! We are Canadians, we live here and we live with winter because we know it will leave us and come again with all its beauty.

Speaking of winter leaving, and us being unique Canadians, let me quote a poem called: "Thank You for Spring" by Eleanor Christensen Parker of Penn Yan, New York.

I stepped outside my house today
And heard a robin sing.
His warble was a sure sign of
The coming of the spring.
I saw some pussy willows and
The crocus was in bloom;
Narcissus had awakened with
A brilliant yellow plume.
The daffodils were peeking through
The soil wet with dew.
I knew that very soon there'd be
Some more bright buds to view.
I slowly took a deep breath of
The clear refreshing air,
And said a little "thank you" to
Our God who put it there.

Longtime rural business closes its doors

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

One of the area's oldest businesses closed its doors for the final time recently, when Olga and Bill Seniuk made the decision to close Northern Valley Store.

The store, located across the road from the Ukrainian Catholic Church, was first opened in 1946 by John and Jenny Andriaschuk, who previously operated general stores in Plain Lake and Two Hills before moving to the Northern Valley area. John Andriaschuk also operated the post office out of the store from 1950 until 1966, when it mail service for the area was moved to Elk Point.

The Andriaschuks' daughter Olga recalls that prior to the opening of the North Saskatchewan bridge on Highway 41, the store "had a lot of customers from Clondonald and Derwent areas and the south, because there was just a ferry to Elk Point." In the early days, "a lot of customers brought seneca roots and dozens of eggs to trade for flour, sugar and dry goods."

John passed away suddenly in 1976, at the age of 59, and Jenny rented her farmland to Olga and Bill, who farmed nearby, and continued to run the store, with their help, before closing it in 1975.

Oil activity increased in the area, but although wells were drilled all around their farm, not a single one was located on the Seniuk farm. In 1982, Olga finally convinced Bill that she should reopen the store. Business was humming, and in 1989, they built a new store, where they served a steady stream of oil workers as well as area residents and "people from all parts of Alberta, some even from Germany and Venezuela."

With help from family and friends, the Seniuks ran the store for 31 years, until March 1, 2013, when health problems "put a stop to it all," Olga says.

The Seniuks are now enjoying their retirement, and find it quite pleasant to be able to visit "and not hurry home" when they attend events.

Olga and Bill Seniuk recently closed the doors of the Northern Valley Store, which they have operated for 31 years, serving the local community and the oilpatch that has never stopped growing since they reopened the store formerly operated by her parents.

Make that June 15

In last week's story on the rescheduling of the Riverland Challenge, it was indicated that the new date was May 15, when it actually has been rescheduled to Saturday, June 15.

Elk Point Elementary students Jump Rope For Heart

Elk Point Elementary School held its 31st annual Jump Rope For Heart event on Friday, April 26, with students from Grades 4 to 6 taking part. This year, the top five fundraisers will qualify to compete in a pie eating contest at the school's May assembly, and the class that brings in the most pledges will win a pizza party. Catherine Nottall, at left, and Megan Adkins and Tammy Roberts, at right, are shown skipping up a storm, while Andrew Richer shows off a prize he won and Vinny Braga rests up after his time out on the floor. Proceeds from the Jump Rope For Heart go to the Heart and Stroke Foundation.

Local wrestlers compete at École du Sommet

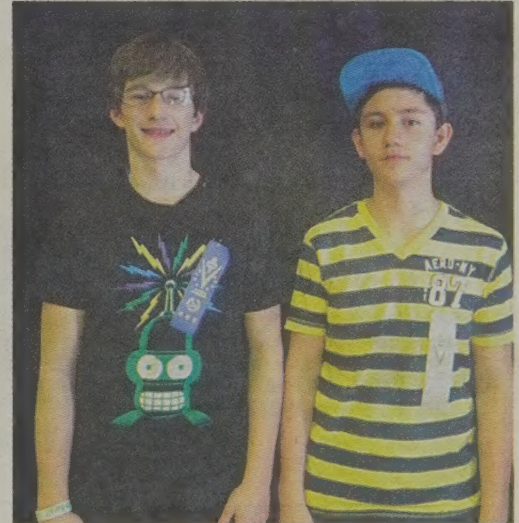

Eros Cueva wrestling

INFORMATION AND PHOTOS
BY MARIA CUEVA

Elk Point students who attend École du Sommet in St. Paul took part in a wrestling tournament on Thursday, April 25.

Every year the four French schools in the region get together at the old Ecole du Sommet gym and have a wrestling tournament, where Grades 3 to 7 have the opportunity to wrestle with kids in the same weight categories. They get to practise and prepare for this event at school.

A few of our local kids did very well in the tournament. Congratulations to our local amateur wrestlers-to-be.

Nick Tucker placed second and Lyon Cueva third in their weight class.

Canada Day donations coming in

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Donations are beginning to come in to defray the expenses of Elk Point's Canada Day celebrations, in reply to some 120 letters sent to businesses and organizations, including some that have never before been approached. Over $2,600 has now been received, and the Canada Day committee was told last week that town council once again committed a $2,000 donation toward the celebration. No word has yet been received from the federal government yet regarding its annual grant, but the committee is hopeful that it will be approved and that donations will continue to come in to help reach the estimated budget of approximately $10,000.

The committee

roughed out the day's schedule at last week's meeting, which will be fine tuned as July 1 draws closer.

With this year's focus on youth, letters will be going out to schools, sports groups and other youth-oriented organizations, suggesting that they enter floats in this year's parade.

The children's activities are also prominent ly featured, and when the committee learned that an obstacle course for older children is now also available from the bounce castle provider, they agreed to 'go for it,' in addition to the bouncers. Face painting and a visit from Sprinkles the Clown are also planned, and there is still a possibility of adding a petting zoo to the lineup.

Ed English, who represented the Village of Vilna from 2004 to 2010, John Trefanenko, who represented the Town of St. Paul from the beginning of the organization until 2007, Robert Bouchard, who represented the County of St. Paul and served as MuniCorr board chair from 2002 to 2010, Johnny Doonan, representing Glendon from the beginning, and Ray Danyluk, who was involved first as a County of St. Paul councillor and later as MLA, were called forward to accept plaques from MuniCorr.

"This year being the 10th anniversary," Bouchard said, "we need to remember who makes this thing tick: the volunteers. It's a wonderful organization. There were always a lot of skeptical people to deal with. It's been a long haul, and you've stayed with it." Bouchard would like to see more young people involved, but said it was "very nice to see municipal councils stepping up to the plate." He also noted that use of the trail right-of-way saved the municipalities a considerable amount of money when installing the water lines.

"To have Ray's support was a blessing," Price said. "He was a St. Paul County Councillor when the Elk Point to St. Paul line was abandoned, and he came to meetings and lent his support. Through his efforts, the Iron Horse Trail has become known to the province as a model of success." She noted that Danyluk was also instrumental in obtaining a joint federal and provincial grant for trail resurfacing.

"It all started at a meeting in the Elk Point Seniors' Centre," Danyluk said. "We were discussing what should be done with the abandoned railway." The county had purchased the right of way and offsets, he said, but were unsure what to do with it. "A delegation made up of Sheila, Marvin and Jerry offered to take it on, that's the way the cooperation started, that's what it's all about. They did a tremendous amount of work."

As Minister of Transportation at the time the water lines were proposed, Danyluk said, "unequivocally, those water lines to Vilna and Elk Point wouldn't have happened if it weren't for the foresight and initiative of the mayors, reeves and councillors (who agreed to be part of MuniCorr). That's what made it happen." As a provincial politician, he found that "the MLAs very much look up to what happened here."

Jerry Bidulock ended the meeting with a slide show, speaking on the attributes of the Lower Athabasca Regional Plan, "which validates what we have done. The plan impacts us where we like to play, and 20 or more of its 93 pages mention outdoor recreation and trail systems. It sees Lakeland Country as an iconic tourist destination." He thanked Danyluk "for getting us here. Without your efforts, trails and tourism were barely on the radar screen."

The evening wound up with a variety of music by Rollie Poitras and his band, with director Roy Scott tapping along with his spoons to some of the songs.

Canada Day

The chamber of commerce pancake breakfast and the Strong Man competition have been confirmed, as are some of the performers for the afternoon stage show, but an empty time slot still remains in late afternoon, with no replacement yet found for the Farm Survival Challenge. Any group or individuals interested in providing an activity to fill the gap may contact the town's recreation director, Deena Smith, at 780-614-5592.

Dee Pankiw reported that she now has sponsors, judges, an MC and prizes for the Canada Day Idol competition, and will soon have the entry forms ready to distribute to young people eager to display their talent.

Elk Point Allied Arts has expressed an interest in serving supper at the Arts and Leisure Centre, after the Elks Lodge indicated that they no longer had the necessary facilities to do the beef-on-a-bun supper. The Christian Community Church is looking for outdoor-appropriate tables and chairs for its pie tent, and the Elk Point Co-op is planning to hold its lunchtime barbecue, although the location will be changed to work around the store addition and renovations.

Fireworks have also been confirmed, although the business has been sold and the new owner is being trained. He has agreed to honor the commitments that were already in place, which includes our July 1 event.

The committee received a letter suggesting that Canada Day include a reunion of former Elk Point residents and students that attended school in Elk Point in bygone years. However, it was agreed that planning for a reunion of that type would need to be started much further ahead. The suggestion will come back to the committee after Canada Day, when they scrutinize this year's event and make suggestions for 2014.

Pucker up, folks - here comes Sassy!

By DIANE DEWAN

Elk Point Elementary School

On Thursday, April 25th Elk Point Elementary School had our Kiss the Pig Event.

For our second Reporting Period, students needed to collect 4,500 points through our Accelerated Reader Program. They had from November to March to complete this task. If they were successful, Mr. Young and Mrs. Vinge would kiss a live pig. The students, from Grades 2 - 6 collected 5496 points!! The pig's name is Sassy!!! Also, if anyone wants to see the live event, go to our school's Facebook page - ELK POINT ELEMENTARY SPERD - TO SEE THE VIDEO !!

Come here, Piggy dear!

Elk Point Elementary School principal Lorne Young (above) and vice-principal Leanne Vinge (below) got up close and personal with a cute black and white piglet when their students far surpassed their 4,500 point target in the Accelerated Reading Program.
